Soviet Women at the Front

On behalf of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R., the Military Council at one of the fronts has awarded orders and medals to 33 valiant women—stretcher-bearers, signal corps members and staff doctors—serving with the Red Army. Nurse Galina Karpenko received the Order of Lenin for carrying 82 wounded men and their arms and equipment from the battlefield.

love mankind very much and have a strong heart to be able to perform operations under war conditions in places not adapted for surgeries. This love of mankind is characteristic of the work of our surgeons at the front, and the nurses and stretcher-bearers display equal selflessness in saving the lives of wounded Red Army men.

Here are some examples: Stretcher-bearer Maria Soboleva carried 78 wounded men from a battlefield under trench mortar fire and gave them first aid. Nurse Ludmila Ponomareva risked her life to save six wounded men who had been locked in a burning house by the retreating Germans.

WHAT IS A PLAY PARTY?

“Play parties” are a very special kind of parties. If you never went to one, here is your big chance—the chance of a lifetime. The whole idea of play parties was started many years ago by poor people down South who liked to get together after a hard day's work and have fun.

A MESSAGE FROM MME. IVY LITVINOFF

Be sure that every woman in the Soviet Union is working for the war, whether at home, making herself responsible for the anti-air-raid measures of her block, taking duty on the roof to look out for enemy planes, in the factory, replacing her husband, son, or brother, at the front and in the rear, tending the sick and wounded as doctor or nurse.

“BRINGING UP FATHER”

A lady in charge of elementary education tells of the difficulty of teaching modern hygiene to farmers brought up under the conditions of Tsarist Russia. The natural place for a well seemed to them to be next to, if not actually in, the farmyard.

Then the village teachers took samples of infected water, put them under microscopes, and let Ivan and Olga and Kolka and Irina watch the contortions of the fearsome bugs in the water from their own wells.

What About Sports

By Michael Pochna

Whenever talk of baseball comes around, I like to start rooting for the New York Giants. The Giants a great reputation for themselves because of the great Christy Mathewson and John McGraw.

Then comes the pitching. Let's stop here for a while and rest. This is the weakest spot in the entire Giant unit. Hal Schumacher is still around. Best prospect seems to be Bob Carpenter.

The IWO basketball tournament will take place in New York during the week of April 11th. Teams from different states will be matched for the championship of the IWO.

Supporting the Office of Civilian Defense Hale America program to involve twenty-five million Americans in the healthy sport of bowling, the IWO also announced their Second National Bowling Tournament.

Sol Vail, chairman of the National Athletic Commission of the International Workers Order, criticized the remarks of Senator Byrd and other hatchet men who are against the OCD bowling program.

The tournament sloganed “Bowl Over the Axis,” includes prizes of $500 in Defense Stamps and Bonds rather than trophies and cash—so come on everybody, “Bowl Over the Axis.”

OUR DUTY Use your sense; Save for Defense! Every John and Don Should buy a Bond. If the people will aid They will be well paid.
